THE EVENING STAR. OVERCOAT WEATHER IS HERE

WASHINGTON: TUESDAY January 17, 1888.

The Evening Star has a regular, permanent | THAN WE HAVE HAD IN THE TWO MONTHS bong fide daily circulation more than treble that of any other daily paper published in Washington, and much greater than that of all the other daily papers here added

That they were not coerced into veting against confirmation shows how | INGTON AT ANY PRICE. the caucus system has lost its grip upon our law-makers of late. A few years ago it would have been quite in order for the caucus machinery to be MEN, AND WE ARE NOW PREPARING TO CLEAN rought into play, partly for the purpose of secur- OUT OUR STOCK OF OVERCOATS BY PUTTING ing a rejection, and partly to give those Senators who wanted to cast adverse votes a convenient excuse for doing so, in case they should be called to MOVE. account by their constituents.

Mr. Lamar's vote is not far from that of Stanley Matthews, whose case was a relic of the quarrels within his own party which broke out during the | FIGURE DON'T CONVEY A VERY CORRECT IDEA Haves administration. It is an important one, historically speaking, as upon the confirmation or rejection of his nomination hung practically the THAT ARE MARKED DOWN A GOOD DEAL AND decision of the question whether men who had FIFTY THAT ARE REDUCED VERY LITTLE. considered disqualified for certain federal offices. They had found their way back OFFERING YOU AND THE PRICES IS TO COME into the executive branch of the Government and into the legislative branch; but the appointment of Senator Jackson to be circuit oteworthy case of their return to the judicial branch. Mr. Jackson never took a prominent part and accepted an inconspicuous civil office under the Confederacy. As he was a member of the Senate almost up to the hour of his nomination, and FOR OUR PRICES ARE AS LOW AS THE GOODS personally a favorite with his associates, and as CAN BE AFFORDED. is course since the war had been extremely conservative, there was no organized opposition to him, and his case could hardly be regarded as a precedent. Mr. Lamar, however, by his defense of Jefferson Davis on the floor of the Senate, and his many approving references to the position of the southern states in the civil contest, had made himself a shining mark for the shafts of his opponents; and the fact that his was the first case of the nomination of a participant in secession to the Sealskin And Seal Plush Wraps court of last appeal, whose members are called upon to settle the gravest questions of constitutional law, caused many Senators to put their disapproval on record, as it were, even though few probably had any idea of procuring his defeat.

A correspondent complained the other day against the "screeds" published in The Star about high house rents in Washington, on the ground that such articles "do injury to the city." On similar grounds, doubtless, complaint could be made of the occasional mention that the streets are not swept as often or as thoroughly as they ought to be, or the suggestion that the popular mand for a better water supply should be met by hastening work on the new aqueduct. The only way certain defects in the city's gov-rament, its public works, or its social customs, can be remedied is by drawing attention to them. And In this line it is a proper subject of discussion why it is that, with as much unimproved land as we have now within the boundaries of Washington. there are so few houses for rent at a low figure. easy of access to departments where cierks are aployed by the thousand at salaries ranging m tweive to eighteen hundred dollars. But they are not rich men, and n order to live within their incomes they must have homes which cost them not more than twenty to th rty dollars a month, and near enough to their offices to save them the extra expense of riding and now occupied by unprofitable rookeries, or not occupied at all, near the very heart of the city, would live in them all the year round, instead of limiting their stay to the session of Congress or ent were made on a considerable scale, it would probably prove sufficiently succes ful to set the fashion for the construction of enough apartment houses to largely supply the want indicated.

recommend the best method of executing the death sentence upon criminals, follows the line which was briefly sketched in these columns a week or two ago, in a review of the correspondence which had poured in upon the commission since their investigations began. It sets forth the great advantages of electricity over any other method suggested, as being bloodless, instantaneous, and never-failing in its operation, and apparently pose 1 by the commission is the familiar one of the

The absence of direct human agen cy in the matter would rob the opponents of the system of their standard objection, that any method of capital punishment is brutal which reis little doubt that if the experiment of electrical executions were once fairly made, the rope would go out of vogue ever; where except in frontier set-

Cincinnati yesterday witnessed the extraordi nary spectacle of an entire court of the United states—judge, jury, crier, clerks, tipstaffs, counsel, prisoner, and all-taking up its march in solemn procession to the house of a private citizen for the purpose of hearing his testimony as he tay stretched on a couch with a broken leg. This sort of thing recalls the origin of the term "circuit," now so commonly applied, without a definite meaning, to courts which are really local, but going back to the practice of the judges when they carried their tribunals around with them from place to place, and sometimes forced an obstinate jury to a conclusion by bundling them into a springless cart and driving them over the roughest
